International Transfer Information

Remittance

1. Bank : Woori Bank, Chung-Ang University Branch 84 Heukseok-ro, Dongjak-gu, Seoul, Korea
2. Account Number : Account Number on The Invoice
*Please print out the invoice from the website for Admission Result & Information
3. Beneficiary Name : Your Name (Chung Ang University)
4. Swift Code : HVBKKRSE Students are responsible to pay all the service charges for international money transfers.

Please be aware that 2 separate remittance charges will apply: one from Woori Bank for receiving the transfer, and one from the account holder's domestic bank, for sending the transfer.

So we highly recommend that you transfer enough amount in consideration of the 2 remittance charges. If you pay more than the requested tuition fees, the difference will be refunded after arrival in Korea. Or on the other hand, if the received payment (after the remittance charges) is insufficient, you will have to make another transfer, again with remittance fees.

Additionally, please understand that due to fluctuating currency exchange rates and possible service charges for international money transfers, the total fees may be slightly different than what is stated above.

In either case, students will either be charged more or receive a refund for the difference of the total amount. Students will be informed if they owe more for the fee or if they should expect a partial refund.
